Idaho is located in the northwestern United States, bordering Canada and the states of Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, and Montana. It ranks 39th among the states in population and 11th in size. The federal government owns 63 percent of the state. Manufacturing, agriculture and tourism are important components of Idaho's economy. Annual average total civilian employment grew 35.9 percent from 1991 to 2001. Major employers include Bechtel BWXT Idaho, the prime contractor at the Idaho National Engineering and Environmental Laboratory; J.R. Simplot Company; Albertson's, Inc.; Hewlett-Packard Company; Micron Technology; Potlatch Corporation; Wal-Mart; Mountain Home Air Force Base; and Boise Cascade Corporation.

With abundant mountains, lakes and streams, Idaho is a scenic and recreational playground with a beautiful four-season climate averaging 230 days of sunshine per year. While these characteristics helped establish Idaho as a natural resource producer, the state has evolved into one with a thriving and diversified economy.
